

Security You Can Trust

Marketron has a layered security approach to keep your data safe.

We understand that the security of your data is critical to your business. Marketron employs multiple layers of protection across our people, processes and technology to help ensure your information remains secure, available and protected.

Layered Protection for Your Data

Next-Generation Firewall

Our next-generation firewall provides strong threat prevention and defense.

Geographic Restrictions

Traffic is blocked from geographical regions and countries that we do not do business with or that are known to be a threat.

Software Updates and Patches

Marketron employs software update and patch processes, ensuring critical updates are deployed in a timely fashion, including anti-virus and malware programs.

Encrypted Access

All traffic is encrypted with a secure access gateway.

Network Segmentation

Our network is segmented to prevent a direct path to data services.
